What if we create them dynamically... based on metadata that describes the business object model

